No Air Service this Dasara

It was all gas. Much ado about nothing

- Udan scheme will take off only in October
- Akasha Ambari* special flight scheme doubtful

Mysuru, Aug. 31 (MTY&BCT)- Just 21 days for Dasara and here comes a shocker for those who were banking on flight services from Mysuru to Chennai for travelling and business during peak festival season: There will be no flights during Dasara. Reason, the company that came forward to operate flights from September has communicated that they can start flight services only after October 15.

A meeting was on this morning in Bengaluru between Mysore Airport authorities and the flight operating company to sort out the issues and begin flight operations at least by Sept. 15. The final outcome of the meeting will be known only in the evening.

In yet another disappointing news, the ambitious "Akasha Ambari" special flights between Bengaluru and Mysuru during Dasara may not take off as there is no response from the Tourism Department that had earlier launched the facility.

Those who constantly lamented about lack of air connectivity from the Mysore Airport were upbeat when - during July - the Mysore Airport authorities had announced that daily flight operations from Mysuru to Chennai will begin from September and there would be two flights operated by Air Odisha and TruJet.

Bhubaneswar-based Air Odisha (72-seater plane) and Hyderabad-based TruJet (19-seater aircraft) were selected under the first phase of bidding for the Regional Connectivity Scheme (RCS), known as UDAN (Ude Desh ka Aam Nagarik), launched by the Narendra Modi government. Under the scheme, people could reach Chennai in one hour and by paying Rs. 2,500 per seat.

Now, TruJet has expressed its inability to operate flights from Sept. 15, facilitating tourist movement during Dasara. Instead, they have communicated to the Airport authorities that they could start flight operations only after October 15.

Ministerial berth to Geetha Mahadevaprasad

Bengaluru, Aug. 31- Chief Minister Siddharamaiah has inducted Gundlupet MLA Dr. Geetha Mahadevaprasad into his Ministry this morning. The CM had recently obtained the Congress High Command's approval to fill up vacancies in his Ministry. The official swearing-in date will be announced soon. Geetha is the wife of former Minister H.S. Mahadevaprasad who died in January this year following a massive heart attack. Following his death, a by-election was held for Gundlupet constituency where Geetha, a first time contestant, won the seat with 90,258 votes, defeating BJP candidate C.S. Niranjan Kumar.

Geetha Mahadevaprasad

It may be recalled here that on April 16, Star of Mysore had predicted that Geetha would be included in the Ministry. Sources told this newspaper that it is not yet confirmed what portfolio Geetha will get. Vacancies arose following the death of H.S. Mahadevaprasad, resignation of H.Y. Meti and V. Sreenivasa Prasad.

Spare the rod and spoil the child

The British author noted for his satirical writings, Samuel Butler (1835-1902), is credited with the proverbial statement 'Spare the rod and spoil the child,' also sourced by many to the Bible. The now-out-of-fashion interpretation of the proverb used to convey the message "If a parent refuses to discipline an unruly child, that child will grow accustomed to getting his own way." In the context of the land's majority among its 1.32 billion headcount indulging in unbridled unruly acts pursuing myriad causes, being copiously reported upon in all forms of media, one is prompted to switch the focus from child in the proverb to the adult in this column. One can also meaningfully invoke the Kannada proverb 'Gidavagi baggaddu, maravagi baggeethe' which doesn't require to be translated for the sake of those whose tongue is Kannada. One cannot be faulted for remarking that unruly behaviour on the part of the land's people is their uniform religion as it were, cutting across the spectrum of the various faiths of the country's populace.

Corporal punishment having been ruled out by law in the land for many years now, the mass of children as the exclusive beneficiaries of the law are now full-grown adults. Going by the message of the aforementioned Kannada proverb, the thought and hope of bringing this mass of adults to orderly conduct amounts to asking for the moon. Also, there are no clues on who or which agency is to bell the cat.

Let us now narrow down the discussion on 'Sparing the rod and spoiling the child' to the privileged sections in the population, namely the nearly 10 crore government servants, together employed in the Central Government as well as the governments in the 36 States and Union Territories, not to forget those in the well-marked sections on whom the Constitutional favours have been bestowed. This enviable mass, given their numerical strength and guarantees under the land's laws, like the child which was spared the rod, has got accustomed to its own way, a feature that every citizen coming across its members in daily life has been made a sucker.

If the index of "revenue per employee," as commonly computed in case of an industry in private sector is applied to employees in governments as "output per employee," we are sure to end up with a dismally low figure. In this backdrop, the reported prescription by a Union Minister to chase the non-performing employees with a stick augurs well for the country's speedy progress.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

MINISTERS STILL ON TENTERHOOKS: Members of the Union Council of Ministers have spent the last couple of days in New Delhi. Those who were planning to go out of the city also changed their plans after they were conveyed the message that it would be better that they stay in Delhi. The Ministers have taken it to mean that the Cabinet expansion and reshuffle can take place on any day before Prime Minister Narendra Modi leaves for China to attend the BRICS Summit on September 3. Ministers have also been keen to find out from journalists whether the Ashoka Hall of the Rashtrapati Bhavan, where Ministers are sworn-in, has been booked and for which date. When a top leader of the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) held an informal chat with journalists, several Ministers phoned journalists and wanted to know if the leader gave any indication about the shape of the Cabinet reshuffle. However, Modi and BJP chief Amit Shah have perfected the art of keeping everyone guessing, including journalists and their own party.

'Morning Recovery'

Washington: Sisun Lee, an engineer at Elon Musk's Tesla Motors quit his dream job, so that he could focus on a higher goal – giving the world a hangover cure that works. Lee got the idea for "Morning Recovery," a hangover cure, about a year ago, after a vacation in his native South Korea. He after getting drunk with his Korean friends, they gave him traditional anti-hangover drinks which woke up him feeling great. He was fascinated by their effect, and started looking for similar products in United States.

Sisun Lee started researching for traditional South Korean hangover cures, which led him to the work of Dr. Jing Liang, a UCLA neuroscientist and neuro-pharmacologist, and the world's leading scientist in alcohol use disorder. Lee discovered a compound called dihydromyricetin (DHM) found in the Oriental raisin tree and rattan tea, two ingredients used in Asian hangover cures for thousands of years. He finalised the formula for 'Morning Recovery,' with the help of Dr. Jing Liang. He pass samples to their acquaintances, and feedback was great. The benefits of Morning Recovery, posted it on Facebook. As a venture capitalist saw the post and put it on Product Hunt, a website that helps launch new products. Gave big break for Sisun hangover cure project.

Retirement home for Police dogs

Beijing: Bai Yan, a kindhearted Police dog handler from Hangzhou, recently melted the hearts of millions of Chinese after it was reported that he had spent the last 7 years and around 1 million yuan ($150,000) on a retirement home for Police dogs, where his former "comrades in arms" could live out their golden years in peace.

55-year-old Bai has been working as a Police dog handler since 2004, during which time he has trained around 30 canines. He became very attached to them, and having seen how some retired Police dogs ended up, he knew he had to do something about it. In 2010, Bai rented a piece of land on the hilly outskirts of Hangzhou, and turned into a proper retirement home for his aging Police dogs, complete with assault courses, walking paths and even a cemetery for the canines, where 26 of the trainer's former "colleagues" are buried. He visits the dogs three times a day, and making sure to spend time with them individually. He also takes one dog with him to work every day.

Dead street-lights on Ring Road

Sir,

This is in continuation of my previous letter on the same issue (SOM dated July 6). The street-lights on Ring Road from Columbia Asia Hospital to Narayana Hospital are still not working; they are dead.

Most importantly the bushes that have grown on the edges of the Ring Road and service road add to the darkness. The edges of the drainage should be painted with yellow and black paints so that the motorists can differentiate the edges on both right and left sides. Why don't the authorities pass through this mentioned stretch and observe the difficulties for themselves.

The Police patrol vehicle is parked near Columbia Asia Circle while the other on Pushpashrama junction in the pitch darkness. It is also surprising that how can this be neglected by the City Corporation. Will the Assistant Commissioner concerned or the Ward Corporator immediately act on this and see that the lights are working full night?

Also bushes on the edges should be cleaned for free usage of Ring Road and service road. Instructions should be displayed not to park heavy trucks on Ring Road during night.

Tension in Napoklu after bovine hooves found at temple gate

Hooves of a slaughtered bovine found at Nettumadu Bhagavathi Temple at Kakkabe yesterday.

Members of Hindu Jagarana Vedike staged a protest this morning at Clock Tower in Virajpet demanding the arrest of miscreants who had placed hooves of a slaughtered bovine at a temple in Kakkabe.

Napoklu, Aug. 31- Tension prevailed at Napoklu in Kodagu district after miscreants dumped hooves of a slaughtered bovine at a temple gate yesterday. The decomposed parts were found cloaked in a cloth and was hanging from the gate which triggered tension in the vicinity. The hooves kept in a plastic bag were placed at the entrance arch of Nettumadu Bhagavathi Temple at Kakkabe near Napoklu.

Villagers and leaders of Hindu outfits who gathered at the site staged a protest and urged to arrest the accused.

Yesterday morning, the temple head Pandanda Naresh found a plastic bag which was hung at the temple arch. Soon, the incident went viral and a complaint in this regard was lodged at Napoklu Police Station.

Local community members and activists of Hindu groups took to the streets to express their protest and demanded that the culprits be tracked and brought to justice.

The Hindu outfit leaders, who blocked the road for some time, addressed their followers and described that it as an attempt to disturb the communal harmony and divide the society by miscreants.

Kodagu Zilla Panchayat President B.A. Harish, Members Padiyamanda Murali, N. Kiran, and others were present. Madikeri Dy.SP Sundaraj and other officials, who reached the spot, promised the gathering that the culprits would be traced.

As the news of the incident spread, there were protests in Madikeri, Kushalnagar and Kakkabe as well. Agitators staged a Rasta Roko and submitted a memorandum to the District Administration demanding that the miscreants be arrested and prosecuted at the earliest.

Speakers at rallies said that the heinous act cannot be tolerated as it is directed towards stirring peace and harmony. The act is deliberate and has been carried out with the intention of creating communal tensions during Ganesh Festival and Bakrid. Stern legal action should be initiated against the miscreants, they demanded. Following the incident, Police officials conducted an inspection. The villagers who had gathered at the spot maintained that higher Police officials should visit the spot.

State Govt. plans to harness floodwaters for drinking purpose

Bengaluru, Mysuru and other cities to benefit

Bengaluru, Aug.31 (KMS& NNN)- The State Government is seriously considering to harness the floodwaters flowing from the rivers into the seas to mitigate the drinking water problems of Bengaluru and other part of the State including Mysuru.

Addressing presspersons here yesterday, Bengaluru Development Minister K.J. George said that the idea was to check the excess river water from the Western Ghats overflowing into the sea.

He held a meeting with Urban Development Minister Roshan Baig and the top officials from the Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) to discuss about the feasibility report.

A team of Scientists from Indian Institute of Science (IISc) led by T.G. Sitharam submitted the report regarding supply of drinking water to Bengaluru and other parts from west flowing rivers in Dakshina Kannada district like Nethravathi.

According to the report, nearly 300 to 350 tmcft water flows into the sea every year. If this water is harnessed at the source where the river water enters the sea, it can be treated and the sweet water can be pumped to the prominent cities. In the first stage, Bengaluru, Mysuru, Mangaluru, Belagavi, Hubballi-Dharwad, Davangere, Balllari, Kalburgi, Shivamogga, Tumakuru and Vijayapura Corporations will be supplied with this water, said George.

The State capital Bengaluru's annual requirement is 20 tmcft of water. For the remaining Corporations, another 20 tmcft of water is required. At the source of the sea itself 30 to 35 tmcft of water can be stored by building reservoirs. This water will be treated and supplied to the cities. This novel technology is successfully adopted in countries like Singapore, Hong Kong, Britain, China, and Germany, said BWSSB Chairman Tushar Girinath.

This important scheme is already implemented in Chennai. The Urban Development Department had already prepared a report in this regard and it was placed in the previous Cabinet meeting. The Cabinet, after studying the draft report, had sought some more technical details.

However, in yesterday's meeting, the scientists and technical experts held talks for the implementation of the project. Based on the proceedings in the meeting, the BWSSB will prepare a action plan, said George. He also made it clear that this project had no relation to the Yettinahole project.

Interestingly, while the Government is taking cognisance of the report of IISc Scientist Sitharam, another scientist from the same premier research institute in the country, Prof. T.V. Ramachandra has slammed the report. He said that no Environment Impact Assessment was done by the team led by Sitharam to make such claims.

The environmental crusader Prof. Ramachandra has said that this is going to be an ecological disaster and the livelihoods of those living downstream is going to be destroyed.

He also gave the example of Yettinahole project and said that he had given proof that there was no sufficient water to pump it from there.

Chamundeshwari to witness high-voltage political battle in 2018

CM Siddharamaiah will contest against friend G.T. Devegowda; says there are no permanent enemies or friends in politics

CM Siddharamaiah performing Bhoomi Puja to a slew of development projects at Udbur village of Chamundeshwari constituency yesterday. Others seen are District Minister Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa, Chamundeshwari MLA G.T. Devegowda, former ZP President K. Marigowda, Koorgalli Mahadev, Members Rakesh Papanna and Arun Kumar.

Mysuru, Aug. 31 (YDS&BCT)- Performing Bhoomi Puja to a slew of development projects in Mysuru yesterday, Chief Minister Siddharamaiah gave enough hints that he would contest the next Assembly elections from Chamundeshwari constituency.

"Me and G.T. Devegowda were close associates once and we are still good friends. Don't be surprised if we contest against each other from Chamundeshwari constituency in 2018," Siddharamaiah said, leaving the audience in splits and at the same time conveying a message to the people that he will be there soon to seek votes.

He was speaking after setting in motion development works worth Rs. 20.82 crore at Udbur village in Jayapura hobli that comes under Chamundeshwari segment. Recalling his association with residents of Udbur, Siddharamaiah said that he expects the bond to be stronger in the next election too. "You have been blessing me and the people from my party and I will repose the same trust that you will bless me in the next election too," he said.

Interestingly, Chamundeshwari MLA G.T. Devegowda was also present when the CM said that he (Siddharamaiah) will contest against him (G.T. Devegowda) in 2018. "It would not be a surprise if I contest against G.T. Devegowda from Chamundeshwari constituency. The chances are high. Both Varuna and Chamundeshwari constituencies are like my two eyes," he said.

When Siddharamaiah was asked what if Devegowda joins the Congress party, he said, let him come. "There are no permanent enemies or friends in politics," he said.

Reacting to Siddharamaiah, G.T. Devegowda said that he would contest on a JD(S) ticket from Chamundeshwari constituency. "My family, including my wife and son, have been serving the constituency. I am not a Chief Minister to implement various programmes. There was a rumour that I would join the Congress party. But I will not leave the JD(S)," he said.

Recalling the by-election for Chamundeshwari in 2006, Siddharamaiah said that the constituency gave him political rebirth. I won the polls by a slender margin of just 247 votes, he said. Siddharamaiah said, "I am proud to state that I am in favour of Dalits, backward classes and the minorities. I am with the poor people, irrespective of community and caste. BJP leader Jagadish Shettar had called me 'anti-Jalebi', a sweet, which means anti-Brahmin, Lingayat and Vokkaliga, according to Shettar. But there are poor people in all communities. I am in favour of the poor," he said.

Siddharamaiah's intention of contesting from Chamundeshwari in 2018 is not new. It may be recalled here that last month, he had made his intention public. Notably, according to sources, Siddharamaiah is projecting his son Dr. Yathindra Siddharamaiah to be the Congress MLA candidate from Varuna.

"You (people of Chamundeshwari) have elected me MLA five times. And you gave me political rebirth in the 2006 by-elections. I am considering contesting again from Chamundeshwari. Due to my work pressure I have not been able to visit Varuna frequently. Earlier my older son Rakesh (who died last year) used to take care of work in Varuna. Now my younger son Yathindra has given up his profession to help me take care of the constituency. You must give your blessings to Yathindra," Siddharamaiah had said.

Decoding Mythology

Dr. Devdutt Pattanaik - Author, Speaker, Illustrator, Mythologist

Chef Nala

Once upon a time, there was a man who cooked so well that a woman decided to marry him. And when he ran away, taking up a job as a cook, she tracked him down by the flavours he conjured up in his master's kitchen. His name was Nala. Her name was Damayanti.

A sage called Vrihadashwa narrates the story, Nalopakyana, or the tale of Nala, to the Pandavas, during their exile in the forest, in the epic Mahabharata. This makes it a story within a story. Nala loses his fortune due to his own foolishness and is so ashamed of himself that he runs away from his wife, and lives in hiding, until she finds him, and restores his faith in himself through her love.

What is interesting is that Nala, a prince, who is an expert in chariot-riding, but terrible at the game of dice, is also a cook. This is an usual tale. Nala is described as a Nishadha, which could have many meanings including 'tribal king', and so may refer to someone outside the classical Aryan warrior mould.

In the Mahabharata, Bhima is also described as a cook; but he cooks to feed himself (a negative trait that lands him in Naraka eventually). In the Virata Parva, when he is forced to hide as a servant in the kingdom of Matsya, he is required to feed others before he feeds himself. Cooks were service-providers, or dasa, hence belonging to the shudra varna. Hardly the vocation, or the hobby, of a king. Yet it is this hobby that wins him the heart of Damayanti. That is how she distinguishes him from the Gods who attend her swayam-vara: the flavours of the kitchen cling to him, while they exude the scent of flowers.

Women, who were expected to serve their husbands, are known to be cooks. Sita and Draupadi are famous as cooks and as hosts. Nala stands out as an exception. The male cook, or shall we say chef, the forerunner of the Maharaj who controls many a Marwari and Gujarati kitchen. He even wrote a book. Of course, we are not sure if this Sanskrit cookbook, which is at least 800 years old, was actually written by one Nala or simply attributed to him by a humble writer who knew marketing and did not want the glory. This book is called Paka-darpana or the mirror of culinary skills!

Here, we have not only recipes but also observations about food, techniques of cooking and their medicinal properties, revealing an intimate knowledge of Ayurveda too with different types of food for different times of the day and different seasons.

He also reveals knowledge of poisons: how ingredients that are non-toxic become toxic when mixed together, or how toxic ingredients become non-toxic when cooked differently. So we find dishes containing leaves of the poisonous dhatura and arka plants. He is also particular about the qualities of a cook and a waiter!

Sixteen types of preparations are described: rice, khichdi, curd rice, ghee, butter, buttermilk, puddings, juices, meat dishes, vegetable dishes, watery dishes, side dishes, munchies, lickables, appetizers. Most interestingly, the book refers to indigenous biryani (mamsodana): rice cooked with meat. There are detailed descriptions of various preparations with flesh of birds including chicken (kukkuta), animals, fish and eggs. No crinkling of the nose at the sight of meat in this Sanskrit work.

BombeMane: Year-long display of dolls from tomorrow

Mysuru, Aug.31 - Ramsons Kala Pratishtana has organised Bombe Mane, a year-long exhibition of exquisite dolls from across India at its Pratima Gallery on Nazarbad Main Road in city from Sept. 1 between 10 am and 7.30 pm.

Padma Shekhar

Prof. Padma Shekhar, Vice-Chancellor, Karnataka Sanskrit University, Bengaluru, will inaugurate the 13th edition of Bombe Mane expo tomorrow at 12 noon.

Prof. Srinivasa Varakhedi, Director, Academy of Sanskrit Research, Melukote and S. Kumara, Registrar (Admin), Academy of Sanskrit Research, will inaugurate Special Display Sections. Dolls will also be on display at Handicrafts Sales Emporium, Ramsons House, opposite Mysuru Zoo.

More than 10,000 colourful dolls will be on display and sale celebrating the vivid, extraordinary diversity of the land's people, their folkways and mores all of which are bewilderingly mind-boggling.

Bombe Mane has a tradition of special display showcasing various cultural aspects of our heritage rich land. This year too Bombe Mane continues this tradition with four unique dioramas celebrating various aspects of culture. The 1000th anniversary of Saint Ramanuja, 250th birth anniversary of Saint Tyagaraja, 125th anniversary of institution of Order of Gandaberunda, 125th anniversary of the beginning of Sarvajanik Ganeshotsav and 50th anniversary of first Jnanpith Award to Kannada — these are the themes for these special display sections.

Similar to story-telling, doll festival is an entertaining and fun way of imparting knowledge to children. During the ten days of doll festival (Bombe Habba), children can actually see their favourite characters from mythology like Ganesha, Arjuna, Radha, Krishna, etc., come tangibly alive in the form of dolls. The rich imaginative stories and their characters have been moulded out in clay, applied with vibrant hues and they seem as if they are frozen in time.

There are not only the dolls of mythological characters, but also the dolls of lay-man and lay-lady, animals, birds, trees, houses, etc. The rural setting can be easily created using dolls in various farmland chores like tilling, sowing, planting, harvesting, winnowing, etc., while local market can be set up using dolls selling vegetables, flowers, fruits; either seated or on the move.

An entire park or garden, forest, hill, menagerie can also be created using these dolls. A huge collection of doll accessories, miniature buildings, models and other paraphernalia provides one with enough material to conjure up a carnival of dolls within the space of your drawing room.

Thus, the doll festival becomes a festival of creativity where one can create a mini universe of their own and can be master of their own creation. Keep an aeroplane in a temple, make fishes fly, let an elephant swim in water — make whatever you want — you own the place, you own the dolls. There is no limit to this creativity until and unless there is a doll that bites.

The doll festival of Japan, 'Hina Matsuri' has rules and regulations, 'do's and 'dont's, tiers and hierarchies, but the 'Bombe Habba' gives one enough liberty to let the imagination run wild within the limits of 'auchitya' or propriety. So realise your dream world this Bombe Habba and unleash your creativity.

Dasara Special Officer D. Randeep inspects entry gates at Palace

Mysuru, Aug. 31 (RK&NNN)- A special podium will be erected at the Mysore Palace for the first time for the convenience of the journalists to cover the Dasara Procession. Dasara Special Officer and Deputy Commissioner D. Randeep responded to the request of the photographers and videographers to install a special podium for an unhindered view of the inauguration of Jumboo Savari by the Chief Minister.

He was on an inspection tour to oversee the arrangements for Dasara Procession at the Palace, here this morning. The media-persons, who accompanied him, gave a suggestion that a separate elevated enclosure should be provided for them to view and cover the grand event.

All these years, the media people were forced to sit in the hot sun or get drenched in the rain. Besides the media enclosure was right next to the dais where the CM came to offer flowers to the Howdah elephant to mark the inauguration of the Dasara procession.

The journalists, photographers and videographers did not have a clear view of the proceedings as they had to crane their necks to get a clear view. Hence, the photographers and the journalists brought these problems to the notice of Randeep who, after giving a patient hearing, agreed to their request and directed the officials of the Dasara Committee to make the necessary arrangements. For the first time, the special platform will be raised opposite the dais where the Ambari elephant will greet the Chief Minister.

The scribes and the photographers will not only get a free view but also get a canopy over their head, Dasara Special Officer Randeep told Star of Mysore.

Later, the DC went through the blueprint of the Dasara Procession and inspected the entry gates for the tickets, pass and gold card holders.

Tourism Department Deputy Director H.P. Janardhan, Palace Board Deputy Director T.S. Subrahmanya, DCP Law and Order Vishnuvardhan, Devaraja Police Station Inspector Thimmaraju, Information Department Assistant Director Raju and other Officers were present.

Speaking to Star of Mysore this morning, Director of Mysore Airport Manoj Kumar Singh said that he was at the meeting with TruJet authorities. "I have already told them that there would be no use if the service starts after Oct. 15 as the peak Dasara tourism season would be over. Also, by starting services by Sept. 15, the company can capitalise on tourist flow," he said.

Manoj Kumar Singh added that if the flights start before Dasara, there would be enough publicity and if announcements are made early, there will be more takers to flying between cities.

The meeting was on till we went to the press.

"Akasha Ambari" special flights

The "Akasha Ambari" Dasara special flight that is launched to cater to Dasara tourists every year may not be operated this year. Mysuru Deputy Commissioner D. Randeep had earlier this month written to the Secretary, Tourism Department, to resume 'Akasha Ambari' special flights between Bengaluru and Mysuru, this Dasara. But sources said that so far, the Tourism Department has not replied to his letter.

In his letter, Randeep, who is also the Chairman of Aerodrome Committee, had said that a large number of foreign nationals visit Mysuru during Dasara and the non-availability of air services between Bengaluru and Mysuru is a limiting factor for tourist inflow into the city.

Randeep had also mentioned that last year, the special flight from Bengaluru (HAL Airport) to Mysuru was initiated by Tourism Department and the same flight services were once again required this year to boost tourism.

Cabinet nod for Ordinance to hike cess on luxury vehicles

New Delhi, Aug. 31 - Luxury cars and SUVs may become more expensive with the Union Cabinet yesterday approving an ordinance to raise the maximum compensation cess that can be levied over and above the 28% GST on such cars, from 15% to 25%.

However, these changes will not come into effect immediately. The final decision on whether the cess should be raised, and by how much, will be taken by the GST Council, whose next meeting is on Sept. 9.

"The Cabinet has approved an amendment to the CGST (Compensation) law in pursuance of the GST Council's last meeting. After the implementation of GST, prices of vehicles had substantially come down, whereas smaller vehicles remained untouched," Finance Minister Arun Jaitley said.

Jaitley reasoned, "The object of any taxation policy can't be that its impact is [that] luxury becomes cheaper and an essential item becomes more expensive. If at all relief has to be given, it is to be given to a common man's item rather than a luxury item. A person who can afford Rs. 1 crore for a car can also afford Rs. 1 crore, 2 lakh."

The "enabling ordinance" will now be sent to the President for promulgation. Jaitley was non-committal if the issue would be taken up in the next GST Council meeting.

Post the introduction of the new indirect tax regime, several car-makers, including makers of luxury cars and SUV who were one of the biggest beneficiaries of GST, had slashed rates to pass the benefits to the consumer.

If the GST Council decides to increase the cess, luxury car prices may go up by 8-10%, according to industry analysts. While Mercedes cars will be costlier by a minimum of Rs. 3 lakh, an Audi Q7 will see a price increase of Rs. 7 lakh and an Audi A6 will be costlier by Rs. 5 lakh.

VTU Students' Panel call for voluntary bandh of Engineering Colleges tomorrow

Take out bike rally in city

Mysuru, Aug. 31 (PM&KS)- Students of Engineering Colleges affiliated to Visvesvaraya Technological University (VTU), under the banner of All India Democratic Students' Organisation (AIDSO) and VTU Students' Struggle Committee, will boycott classes tomorrow to urge the University to solve their problems at the earliest.

As a prelude to the bandh, a bike rally was taken out in city this morning by about 50 students from Kote Anjaneyaswamy Temple. The rally passed through K.R. Circle, D.D. Urs Road, JLB Road, Dasappa Circle, Hunsur Road, Vijayanagar Water Tank, Hebbal, Metagalli and Ring Road to reach NIEIT, where more students joined the rally and again passed through the Ring Road, Bannur Road to reach Vidya Vikas Engineering College, ATME College and Mysore College of Engineering and Management (MYCEM).

Later, the bike rally proceeded via Bannur Road, Mysore Milk Dairy Road, Nazarbad Circle, Vasanth Mahal Road, Hardinge Circle, Dasara Exhibition Road, Gun House Circle, Chamaraja Double Road and concluded at Ramaswamy Circle.

Results delayed

The students alleged that the results of Dec. 2016 exams were delayed by five months with the VTU withholding the results of many students and announcing the same just a few hours before the exams. This uncertainty of the results and severe anomalies in the evaluation process had caused dilemma and anxiety among the students, the rallyists said.

The protestors alleged that Crash Semester System students were forced to write 16-20 exams in two months and sometimes two exams in a day.

Speaking to SOM, the students said they had demanded removal of critical year back system for non-Choice Based Credit System (CBCS) students and supplementary exams for CBCS students and had taken to the streets across the State in this regard, but their pleas had fallen on deaf ears.

Mysuru, Aug. 31 (PM&NNN)- Farmer leaders have demanded the local MP Pratap Simha to urge the Centre to cancel the transfer order of former CFTRI Director Prof. Ram Rajasekharan.

They said that there was a conspiracy behind his transfer and forces inimical to the interest of the Institute had worked against the former Director. "He was the first Director in the history of CFTRI who created opportunities for farmers to enter the premier food research institute," the farmers have stated.

Prof. Rajasekharan has provided opportunities through his 'Lab to Land,' ideas and as a result, farmers, ordinary people and women in cottage industries have benefited from his service, said State Farmers Federation President Kurubur Shanthakumar.

Rs. 10 coin: Forum appeals for awareness programmes

Mysuru, Aug. 31- Even after Reserve Bank of India (RBI) announcing and also clarifying that Rs. 10 coin is a legal tender, a majority of people, especially businessmen in city, are reluctant to transact and exchange coins. Sorting out arguments between customers and vendors has become a daily feature at markets and shops.

In a letter to Star of Mysore, reader and Secretary of Senior Citizens Forum (Rajarajeshwarinagar) R.M. Chetty said that the business community was still apprehensive about accepting Rs. 10 coins. It is a herculean task for a Rs. 10 coin holder to convince shopkeepers, vendors and bus conductors not to turn them down when exchanged for a payment, he has stated.

Most of the shopkeepers on Ashoka Road, K.R. Circle, Sayyaji Rao Road, Old Bank Road, Devaraja Market and City Bus Stand are not accepting the coins, making it very difficult for the coin holders to tender change, he has stated.

The Senior Citizens Forum has urged the Lead Bank authorities to intervene and regularise the transaction by conducting a series of awareness programmes among the business community.

Union Govt. adds 107 villages to Cauvery Wildlife Sanctuary area

Villages come under Ramanagaram, Chamarajanagar & Mandya districts; a part of Mysore Elephant Reserve

New Delhi, Aug.31- After notifying Talacauvery Wildlife Sanctuary in Kodagu district as an Eco-Sensitive Zone (ESZ) ranging from 1km to 16km around the boundary of this protected area, the Union Environment and Forest Ministry has notified 600 sq km of area housing 107 villages as an ESZ for the Cauvery Wildlife Sanctuary (CWS) that includes three districts.

The gazette notification has been published on Aug. 22. The 600.7 sq km area of ESZ houses 72 revenue villages and 35 forest villages. The forest, spread over an area of 1,027.53 sq km, nudges three districts — Ramanagaram, Chamarajanagar and Mandya. It is also a part of the Mysore Elephant Reserve.

The notification prohibits 10 commercial and developmental activities while restricting 30 other activities. The prohibited activities include commercial mining, establishing polluting industries, hydroelectric projects, production of hazardous substances, discharge of untreated effluents and setting up of solid waste disposal and incineration units.

Other banned activities are setting up of commercial livestock and poultry units, new saw mills, brick kilns and a complete stop to the commercial use of firewood.

The regulated activities would include commercial hotel business. No new commercial hotels and resorts are permitted within one kilometre from the boundary of the protected area.

The State Government will also have to prepare a Zonal Master Plan. A 12-member Monitoring Committee, headed by the Mysuru Regional Commissioner and having the three local MLAs among the members, has been constituted for effective monitoring of the ESZ for the next three years.

Dy.SP M.K. Ganapathy suicide case

Hand over investigation to CBI, demands Yuva Morcha

Mysuru, Aug.31 (SP&BCT)- BJP Yuva Morcha has demanded the handing over of Dy.SP M.K. Ganapathy suicide case to the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) to ensure justice to the family that has lost a loving father and the Police force that has lost an honest officer.

Addressing reporters at Pathrakartara Bhavan here yesterday, State BJP Yuva Morcha President Gokul Govardhan said that if the State Government does not hand over the case to the CBI in the next 15 days, the Yuva Morcha would stage indefinite protests and hunger strike, he said.

"It is a well-known fact that Chief Minister Siddharamaiah and Home Minister's Advisor Kempaiah have safeguarded Minister K.J. George, Police Officials A.M. Prasad and Pronab Mohanty by hushing up the case and asking CID to destroy evidence. Siddharamaiah should immediately answer whether Ganapathy's death was a suicide or a murder," Govardhan demanded.

"According to Forensic Science Laboratory report, 52 messages, 2,500 photos, 199 files have been erased from Ganapathy's phone and Documents have been completely erased from two pen drives. No information has been revealed about two bullets at the suicide spot. Though Police officials use leather belt, Ganapathy had committed suicide using canvas belt. This gives room for doubts about Ganapathy's death," he said.

"Ganapathy, in his death note, had mentioned the names of Minister George. Despite this, the Government was hell-bent on hushing up the case," he said.

He demanded that the Chief Minister must immediately ask for George's resignation or drop him from the Cabinet.

Yuva Morcha leaders B. Sampath, B. Somashekar, K. Devaraj and others were present.

WORD OF THE DAY

Curriculum Vitae

Pronunciation: cur•ric•u•lumvi•tae

Meaning: A short account of one's career and qualifications prepared typically by an applicant for a position.

Example: Applicants for the fellowship are asked to submit a curriculum vitae.

Origin: Curriculum is from New Latin (a post-medieval form of Latin used mainly in churches and schools and for scientific coinages), in which language it means "a course of study." It shares its ultimate root in classical Latin, where it meant "running" or "course" (as in "race course"), with words such as corridor, courier, and currency, all of which come from Latin currere "to run." As is the case with many nouns borrowed directly from Latin, there is often some confusion as to the proper way to form its plural. Both curricula and curriculums are considered correct. This word is frequently seen in conjunction with vitae; a curriculum vitae (Latin for "course of (one's) life") is "a short account of one's career and qualifications prepared typically by an applicant for a position" – in other words, a résumé. Curriculum vitae is abbreviated CV.

THE ODD WORD

Rach

Dog that hunts by scent.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

In stitches

Meaning: Laughing uproariously.

Origin: To be in stitches is to be in such a paroxysm of laughter as to be in physical pain. The allusion implicit in the phrase is to that of a sharp pain - like being pricked with a needle. The phrase was first used by Shakespeare in Twelfth Night, 1602. MARIA: If you desire the spleen, and will laugh yourself into stitches, follow me. Yond gull Malvolio is turned heathen, a very renegado; for there is no Christian, that means to be saved by believing rightly, can ever believe such impossible passages of grossness. He's in yellow stockings. Despite the usage in Shakespeare, the phrase didn't become established in the language and there are no other records of it until the 20th century. This entry in The Lowell Sun, in July 1914, is the earliest non-Shakesperian record: "There's a new face among the members in Ben Loring, a natural-born comedian, who seems to have no difficulty whatever in keeping his audience in stitches of laughter and glee."

CRYPTOQUIP

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.
